

I attended a workshop for SFN (Sydney Facilitators Network) facilitated by Martin. Very powerful. I haven't stopped thinking about the workshop.

Martin used some of the Theory U process to engage a very large group on some really challenging (and big) questions around spirituality and existence. There is obviously more to it than a simple explanation like this. Martin totally held the space in what was at times an emotionally charged exchange of ideas.

Personally I gained insight into his facilitation approach and I got to grapple with some very gnarly questions that often cause me discomfort. I want to share my enthusiasm for his work in the hope that it may connect him with more like minds and bring opportunity with it.

Thank you for a wonderful evening. I continue to be grateful for my connection with this facilitator community.
